FINE SUPPORT FOR RUCKER

the afternoon game with Boston, to 1, through sensational fieldin behind Rucker, in which Hummel wa the star. The latter figured in two fas double plays at critical times, a one-landed catch of a low liner in the sixth spoiling a rally by the visitors. His patting, too, was timely, his pair battling, too, was timely, its pair of hits sending across two of the three runs. Curtis pitched strongly after the second, but was taken out in the eighth to let Graham bat for him. Intermittent shower's fell during the entire game, but it was not interrupted

TWO GAMES FOR PITTSBURG

broke its losing streak to-day by tak-ing two games from Cincinnati. The morning battle was won easily, 13 to 7, Spade being found for nineteen hits. The afternoon contest was captured, 7 to 4, in a seventh-inning rally of singles, and by Mitchell's wild throw and a base on balls. Maddox was hit freely in the first inning, allowing four runs, but after that was steady and held the visitors to no further score. The base stealing was done by A. Smith a one-time Richmond player, and the hit came straight from the big end of Sharp's bat. The run that Smith bore home broke the tie in the tenth inning, and made the score 2 to 1 in the camp of the enemy.

Hard Game to Lose.

Judging from the way Morrissey handled himself and the Lynchburg batters, it was hard to lone. The chunky individual who cost Richmond a neat sum and whose only other performance in this city with the Colishad bean classy, bent the warm ones over the plate so thick that the whole blooming Hill Climbing team could only tap out five one-bag clouts, and even these, except in the tenth inning, were as widely separated as the principals in a divorce case. Not a Lynchburg bagear arily the service of balls, and five expired at the plate because they couldn't see them as they came by.

Lynchburg began to get fat in the first inning, when Rowe managed to get a rib in line with an outshoot, and was carried to first over the ambulance on a rather sickly throw from home on a rather sickly throw from home on a rather sickly throw from home and rather sickly throw from home in a rather sickly throw from home in the plate of the plate in the first inning sign of the care in the plate of the plate in the first inning sign of the care in the plate of the plate in the first inning sign of the care in the plate in the first inning sign of the plate in the sign of the plate in the plate in the plate in the plate in the route. The wound that he received did not prevent him from stealing second on a rather sickly throw from home that was just a little weak for second base. Then D. Smith, who had been wheeling a grouch about the diamond all day long, vented his spleen by spanking a straight ball in the face. Rowe didn't go to sleep, and when the fatalities were counted, the boy was taking a tally across right field to the score board.

Climbing Upbill,

browed individual wearing a Lynch-burg uniform would throw a chill into the proceedings, and the inning would suffer an abrupt ending. There was a wide open opportunity in the second inning to do damage, but Shaw slowed down too quickly and a quick heave caught him napping at third. would have put to shame the man who invented kleptomania, mixed up with a good clean drive into the uncut alfalfa over which Irvine presided, turned the trick for Lynchburg yesterday in the afternoon game, and made it an even break with the Colts on the day. The Colts began to climb uphill, and the opportunities came by the car lots. Time and time again the signs were auspicious and the goose was on a skyward move, but each time some low-at that time.

Thrilling Toward End.

In the eighth, with lashings of rain to keep the rooters and players from becoming overheated Landgraft turned the page with a Texas leaguer that nobody could see. Half a dozen players started in that general direction, but the ball got there first. Baker dropped a beautiful sacrifice on the hearth rug, and Landy got to second, Bigbie shot a liner at Sharp that bere a tag, showing 212 degrees Fahrenheit, and Sharp stroked its whiskers as it went past, but that was all, During the melee Landgraft cantered home

The Colts strove manfully in their side of the tenth to make the riffles foam, but Lloyd was hanging to his job like a buil-terrier on a ham bone, and, although he gave Baker a chance with a free pass, he closed up on the other three men who came forward, and the ingestions and of acts.

A to 0.

A rather small holiday crowd of 2.000 people came to the ball park yesterday morning to see one of the prettiest exhibitions of the season, and every one of them stood up and yelled every one of them stood up and yelled when the ball was really opened in the first inning as Wallace landed on one of Brooks's benders for a clean hit. Bigble, who hit like a flend all through the game, followed with a safe one to left field, which would have put Wallace on third easily. Griffin over-reached himself in attempting to field the hit and muffed the whole busithe hit, and muffed the whole busi-ness. Before he could recover Wal-lace had scored, and Bigble was safe on second. An attempted steal to third was cut short and ended the inning.

Ensy for Colts.

Cowan caught the spotlight fair in the face in the next box with a classy hit to left field. He took advantage of a sacrifice, and with the whole Lynchburg team looking at him, calmly stole home. Verbout's three-bagger. and nobody in the park was more surprised than Verbout, brought Shaw home in the seventh, and Shaw's three-bagger in the eighth scored the three-bagger in the eighth scored the last run of the game.

Brooks, for Lynchburg, was rather casy for the Colts, who seemed to have recovered the batting eyes that were conspicuous by their absence a week ago. Nine safe hits were plucked from the former Colt, two of which were for extra bags.

The classiest bits of fielding seen here for a long time were smeared over the sheets in the morning game. Two double plays were put through to fret the visitors, and the way the Lynchburgers were robbed of seeming hits was really heart-breaking. Baker seemed to have forgotten where his territory is, and wandered all over the lot, pulling down near-hits with ease only Lynchburgers who could work the puzzles that Verbout shot across,
